Education

Bachelor of Computer Science

Undergraduate

UCSC - University of Colombo

The Computer Science degree program began within the Department of Mathematics, Faculty of Science, before evolving into a dedicated department. Initially offered as a 4-year special degree, it included direct intake and industrial placement features. With the establishment of UCSC, the program transitioned to a new format, providing students with the option to pursue either a Bachelor of Science Honours in Computer Science or Software Engineering, based on their performance and preferences during their first two years.

Certificate in Computer Science

2024

CS50 by Harvard University

Harvard University's introduction to the intellectual enterprises of computer science and the art of programming, for concentrators and non-concentrators alike, with or without prior programming experience. This course teaches you how to solve problems, both with and without code, with an emphasis on correctness, design, and style. Topics include computational thinking, abstraction, algorithms, data structures, and computer science more generally. Problem sets inspired by the arts, humanities, social sciences, and sciences. More than teach you how to program in one language, this course teaches you how to program fundamentally and how to teach yourself new languages ultimately.

G.C.E. Advanced Level in Maths stream

2020

Maliyadeva College

Maths stream has four main subjects: Combined Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, and Information and Communication Technology (ICT). Under the recent syllabus, candidates can choose between either Chemistry or ICT, though Combined Mathematics and Physics are mandatory. Combined Mathematics is a combination of Pure Mathematics and Applied Mathematics.
